

Executive Dashboard

To maintain a competitive edge, executives need access to their business data in a format that will assist in making the right decisions, manage performance and drive results. The Executive Dashboard provides a visual representation of key business information in real time through a wide range of user selected formats, with powerful drilldown to the underlying data. This allows managers and executives to easily identify trends and issues and take immediate action.

Put yourself in the driving seat

Customised Dashboard for each role

With the Pegasus Executive Dashboard, each operator can define their own individual dashboard from a choice of up to 50 dashboard items, depending on their role and responsibility. They can track relevant critical information for areas such as sales performance, financial key performance indicators or stock levels, enabling informed decisions to be made quickly and effectively.

Therefore if you are a managing director, financial director or sales director, you can have your own dashboard designed to fit the way you see the business.

Dynamic and interactive

The Executive Dashboard is linked to Opera II data in real time so that any information displayed is up-to-the-minute. It also offers the ability to drill down on the data displayed, right through to document image, such as an individual invoice. In addition to this, operators can filter the information within charts and graphs to create a personalised dashboard to suit their needs.

If you require further data manipulation, information from individual dashboards can also be exported to MS Excel without the need to cut and paste.

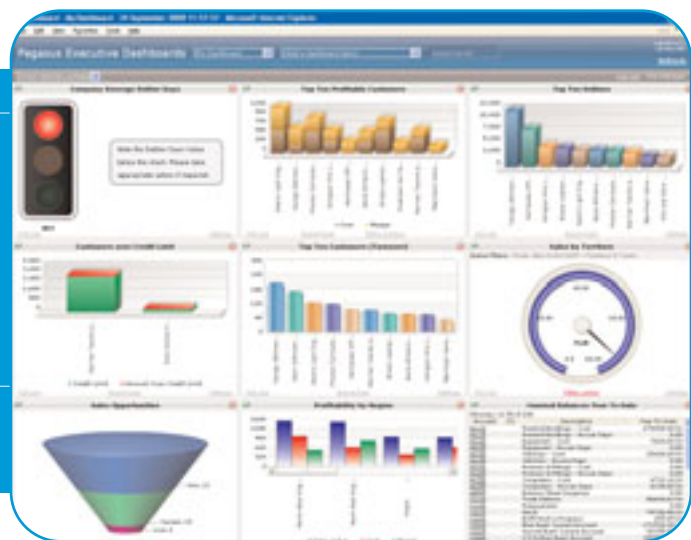

Safe and secure

The Executive Dashboard uses the standard Opera II security settings for access rights and can be distributed through a standard internet browser. This means that remote users can access their critical data wherever they are and take any action necessary from the information received.

Executive Dashboard Manager

Create your own dashboard items tailored to the unique responsibilities of the decision maker by adding the Executive Dashboard Manager. New dashboard items are easy to build, using a Reporter-style interface, and allow users to share information by publishing the item. The Executive Dashboard Manager also allows users to copy any of the 50 pre-defined dashboard items and modify them according to their business requirements.

Pegasus Executive Dashboard

Key features

- Business data is presented with real visual impact so you can understand key information at a glance
- Use a broad range of graphical styles of your choosing
- Choose from up to 50 pre-defined dashboard items
- Real-time integration with Opera II data for up-to-the-minute financial and business information
- Accessed via a standard web browser, so remote users can gain access to key information
- Opera II standard security settings to define user access
- Individual users can set up their own dashboard
- Drill down to underlying data from graphs and charts
- Create, publish and share your own dashboard items with the Executive Dashboard Manager